2. German Associations Arrangements

We have to organize in a devised manner it as reasonable for SOTA in Germany correspondingly the individual states mountain /mountains areas being in which.

Every federal state is a SOTA Region [city states are excluded].

Each federal state with a SOTA summit, the P150 criteria SOTA is a region [except cities that are also federal states].

All regions in low mountain ranges have the same score bands.

There are two criteria for the definition of a summit:

[1] The summit must be contained in the map TOP50 / TOP25 with a name.

[2] The summit complies with the P150 criterion. Between two peaks, a SOTA Prominence [embrasure height] of at least 150m accounts.

See also <http://www.wikipedia.org/wiki/schartenhöhe>

The exact location of the summit was to determine the geographical coordinates and the altitude of the program is based on ['TOP50 CDROM'].

In the following table are designated German SOTA-DM regions and acting mountain lists.

DM - SOTA Region	Active Table of Summits
Bavarian Low Mountain Range, DM/BM	active
Baden-Württemberg, DM/BW	active
Hessen, DM/HE	active
Northern Germany, DM/ND	active
Lower-Saxony, DM/NS	active
North-Rhine/Westphalia, DM/NW	active
Rhineland-Palatinate, DM/RP	active
Saxony-Anhalt, DM/SA	active
Saarland, DM/SR	active
Saxony-Anhalt, DM/SA	active
Thuringia, DM/TH	active

2.1 Programme Basics

The Program SOTA in Germany is based of the digital maps of the German federal bureau of ordnance survey and data processing. This series of digital maps called 'TOP50', TOP for Topographical and 50 for the scale 1:50.000. TOP50 was issued in 2001 and included 14 CDROMs. Publisher is the relevant federal state and the CDROMs are available from the land registry and bookshops. For the lists were only that selected mountains designated officially with height information. With the function 'path profile', the respective path profile of a summit can be represented on all maps.

Contents of the CDROM's:

- Topographical maps 1: 50.000 [100L/cm]
- Topographical maps 1: 200.000 [160L/cm]
- Germany map 1: 1.000.000 [160L/cm]
- Place name table
- Administrative district borders
- Digital topographical height model [resolution 50 m]

Functions of software:

- Scroll
- Search for place name
- Measurement of distances and areas
- Display of geographical coordinates and heights. [basis for SOTA Germany]
- Print of maps
- Draw and write
- Database port
- Port for GPS applications
- 3D View ground maps

2.2 Maps

There are a lot of maps from general maps [1:200.000] with geographical coordinates and UTM Grid up to regional maps by ordnance survey or tourist information in scale 1:50.000 or better. 1:25.000. These maps often have an independent grid reference system [raster]. Therefore we indicate the geographical coordinates from every summit and as an additional aid the nearest city or small town. That is helpful at the regional maps with their own raster.

2.3 Summit Reference data

The tables of summits do not claim to be complete and can only be complemented or changed with approval of the association manager.

2.3.1 Reference data of Association

Association	German Low Mountain Range [DM]
Commencement date	01-June-2003
Association parameter	Definition in SOTA General Rules Manual
Band 1 score 1 point	< 350 m ASL
Band 2 score 2 points	> = 350 m ASL < 450 m ASL
Band 3 score 4 points	> = 450 m ASL < 600 m ASL
Band 4 score 6 points	> = 600 m ASL < 750 m ASL
Band 5 score 8 points	> = 750 m ASL < 850 m ASL
Band 6 score 10 points	> = 850 m ASL
Summit operation criteria	Operation must be within 25 m vertically of the summit
Seasonal Bonus	Yes
min. Height for Bonus	900 m
Bonus rationale	Winter period with highest probability of sub-zero temperatures
Bonus period dates	1-December to 15-March
Association Sponsored Awards	None
Association Manager	Michael Multerer, DB7MM  db7mm@darc.de

3. Summit Reference data

The table of summits do not raise any claim to completeness. SOTA-activities of summits without valid reference number can not be deducted. If amateur radio activities of not performed summits of one should show to already acting mountain range areas, the table of summits if required can be complemented then or changed.

3.1 Region Bavarian Low Mountain Range

Assoziation	SOTA-DM German Low Mountain Range
Region	Bavarian Low Mountain Range [DM/BM]
Start date	01-January-2004
Regional Manager	vacant
Reference	TOP 50 Bayern-Nord, 1:50.000

3.1.1 Regional Notes

The free State of Bavaria is the southernmost state of Federal Republic of Germany. The number of inhabitants is at present for instance 12 million. The face Bavarians is approx. 70.553 km².

As Bavarian low mountain ranges are itself in the eastern part of the Swabian-Franconian stage country the Frankenhöhe, Steigerwald, Haßberge and Franconian Jurassic [Alb].

The Frankenwald, Rhoen and Spessart are in the north of Bavaria. The Fichtelgebirge, the Oberpfälzer Forest and the Bavarian Forest lie in the east along the boundary to the Czech republic.

Note: In the national park 'Bavarian Forest' use of radio gear is limited to hand held transceivers. [§9, Abs. 4 S.6 der Verordnung über den Nationalpark 'Bayerischer Wald' [decree of national park 'Bavarian Forest']. To avoid conflicts with national park guards it's recommended to observe this limitation when activating summits of the national park (DM/BM-053, DM/BM-274 – DM/BM-276).

3.2.1 Regional Notes

The inhabitants speak of their 'Laendle'. Baden-Wuerttemberg was founded in 1952. It has round 11 million inhabitants and has an area of 35.752 km². The capital is Stuttgart. The highest summit in this country is the Feldberg, 1.493 m in the Black Forest.

From the Feldberg, you can look far to the Alps or can look to the Vosges Mountains. Also the Swabian Alp extends for itself at her western edge with some summits higher as 1000 m. For example the Lemberg, 1.015m which offers a very good allround view up to the Alps. In the south is the 'Swabian Sea' the Lake Constance a popular place of excursions. The landscapes of the ode forest lie in the north, building land and invite dew mountain round, that to local recreation. The landscapes of the Odenwald, Baulandes and Taubergrund lie in the north - popular nearby recreation areas.

3.6.1 Regional Notes

Situated in western Germany, Rhineland-Palatinate borders (from the north and clockwise) North Rhine-Westphalia, Hesse, Baden-Württemberg, France, Saarland, Luxembourg and Belgium.

The largest river in the state is the Rhine, which forms the border with Baden-Württemberg and Hesse in the southeast before flowing through the northern part of Rhineland-Palatinate. The Rhine Valley is bounded by mountain chains and forms a fascinating landscape containing some of the most historically significant places in Germany.

The Eifel and Hunsrück mountain chains are found on the west bank of the Rhine in northern Rhineland-Palatinate, while the Westerwald and Taunus mountains are found on the east bank. The hilly lands in the southernmost region of the state are covered by the Palatinate forest and the Palatinate.

These mountain chains are separated from each other by several tributaries of the Rhine: the Mosel, the Lahn and the Nahe.

3.7.1 Regional Notes

The Mountain region northernmost in Germany is the 'Harz'. The region is about 90 km long and 30 km broad with mountains arranged as one long pulled ellipse from the North German lowlands at the states Saxony-Anhalt and Lower Saxony. With heights over 1000m the Harz surmounts the lowlands around up to 800 m. It is a massif rising from the lowlands from slate, porphyry and granite. Its main peak, the 'Hochharz' rises in the northwest and a plateau continues southeast. The Harz juts out as a bulwark from the lowland and carries with it a special meteorological situation that in part amounts to the alps at 2000 m height. The highest summit of Harz is the Brocken at 1.142 m. The snow remains on the Brocken for 6 months of the year. The national park 'Hochharz' surrounds the Brocken with a size of 6,000 ha in Saxony Anhalt and 25.800 ha in Lower Saxony. On the Brocken, the first TV tower in Germany was put into operation in 1938. During good weather on the summit, viewpoint reaches up to Saxony, Lower Saxony, Thuringia and Hessian far. During the time of divided Germany, the boundary ran at the Brocken and in such a way, divided the Harz. The part of Harz in Lower Saxony has a separate summit list. On 2m and 70cm, QSOs with Brandenburg, with Saxony, with Hessian, with Thuringia and Lower Saxony is possible. In the part of Saxony-Anhalt [North/East], which is more flat, with few summits over 150 m. The mountain list for this region is not completed yet.

3.8 Region Saarland

3.8.1 Regional Notes

Saarland is one of 16 German federal states located in the south-western part of Germany. It is bounded by the state of Rhineland-Palatinate to the north and east and by the countries of France to the south and southwest and Luxembourg to the northwest. With an area of 2570km² and a population of 1.036.598 from 2007 it is the smallest of the German area states. The heart of Saarland is an area of thickly forested hills that is crossed from southeast to northwest by the valley of the Saar River.

The state's highest point is the Dollberg [695m, DM/SR-001] north of Nonnweiler, the second highest is the Schimmelkopf [695m, DM/SR-002] north of Weiskirchen. Both summits did not comply with the valid P100 rule and were deleted by the end of 2008. Saarland's most important summit however, is certainly the Schaumberg [569m, DM/SR-012] with its observation tower and 70 cm repeater DBOLZ. With its 569m the summit is only the seventh highest peak of the state; however it stands alone in a rather flat environment and is one of 23 summits in the Saarland fulfilling the P100 criteria. Worth mentioning is also DM/SR-082, a pile built of accumulated tailings, as by-product of mining [slag heap]. The responsible coal mine [Bergwerk Saar] was closed in June 2005.

Due to a historical particularity Saarland was its own DXCC entity [Saar] from 1950 till March 1957 with the prefix 9S4. After a referendum in 1955, Saarland is joining the Federal Republic of Germany since 1957 and the prefix DL8 was allocated to the new state.

3.9.1 Regional Notes

Free State Saxony is the eastern state in Germany. The area of Saxony is approx. 18400km² and subdivided itself into three government districts: Leipzig, Dresden and Chemnitz. The lowest point of Saxony fits at the River Elbe [Dommitzsch 74m ASL] and the highest summit is the Fichtelberg of 1214m ASL.

Be in between some hundred summits of which many were selected for the start the Saxony SOTA program. We could include the summits list of the Saxony mountain competition [Sächsischer Bergwettbewerb]. This competition has run since 1984 on VHF and UHF.

3.10.1 Regional Notes

The Free State of Thuringia has a area from about 16.251 km² and it counts approx. 2.54 million of inhabitants. The capital is Erfurt. Thuringia is between Werra [river] and Rhoen [mountain]. In the north border Thuringia the Harz [mountain] and in the east to the Pleisse [river].

The majority of Thuringia is embossed by many picturesque mountains of the Thueringer forest.

The northern ridge of the Thueringer forest achieves heights more then 900 m [3.000 feet]. The 'Grosse Beerberg' at 983 m [3.224 feet] is the highest summit of the Thueringer forest.

The Kyffhaeuser [summit] and the Thueringer basin are between the Harz in the north and the Thueringer forest in the south.

The eastern part of Thuringia osculates the western spurs of the ore mountains. The mountains of the Rhoen limit in the west. The Saale is the main river of Thuringia that flows to the north.

The 'Rennsteig' is a way along the ridge of the Thueringer forest. It has a length of 168 kms and is oldest and most known height hiking way of Germany.
